

F.D.: Well... come tomorrow at 10am. We'll make another movie and show my colleagues what you can do.

CHARLES: Yes of course, I'll be here tomorrow at 10am.

Scene #26: CHARLES comes back the next morning to meet with the Film Director's colleagues.

F.D. to his Colleagues: I told you he was handsome.

F.D.C.: Hello CHARLES....we heard good things about you yesterday. We'd like to see you in action today if it's not too much to ask.

CHARLES: Not at all. I'm actually looking forward to it.

F.D.C.: We're thinking about putting you in a threesome today. Not too many guys have the stamina required for that type of job. Do you think you can handle two girls at the same time?

CHARLES: All I can say is that I'm actually going to do my best.

F.D.C.: Good to know. We don't want any losers working for us. We'll see you at the film set at 2pm. Make sure to be there on time.

CHARLES: I will.

The Film Director and his colleagues keep walking on their way out to grab lunch. CHARLES stays in the studio and goes to the bar to get something to drink while he waits for his next opportunity to perform.

Scene #27: When the time comes for CHARLES to do the scene in front of the Film Director and his colleagues, he literally blows their minds with his amazing performance. CHARLES does such an excellent job that at the end of the shooting the F.D.'s colleagues give CHARLES a very lucrative five year contract with the chance for renewal.

F.D.C.: Way to go kid. We liked what we've seen so far and we'd like to give you a five year contract to work for us. What do you say?

CHARLES: Oh my god that's awesome! Thank you so much! I just got my dream come true. I promise you guys that I will never fail you.

F.D.C.: Well CHARLES, we're very happy to have you on board.